Wright-Patt Credit Union Partners with National Cooperative Bank to Provide $16 Million to Five Rivers Health Centers New Facility

Beavercreek, Ohio (January 25, 2021) Wright-Patt Credit Union (WPCU), along with National Cooperative Bank (NCB), recently closed a $16 million loan to support a $31.6 million New Markets Tax Credit (NMTC) financing package for the development of a 2 ½ story, 84,000 sq. ft. healthcare facility on four acres of land in Dayton, Ohio. The facility will replace five existing leased clinic spaces and will provide integrated and expanded services in one location. Five Rivers new facility will be known as the Edgemont Campus. WPCU and NCB will each provide a term in loan in the amount up to $8 million.

Five Rivers Health Centers is an independent 501(c)3 not-for-profit organization that provides comprehensive primary health care to individuals and families who are primarily residents of Dayton, Ohio. Five Rivers Health Centers currently serves more than 25,000 patients with more than 87,000 visits to community residents.

“Wright-Patt Credit Union is excited to support the construction of this new community health resource,” stated Scott Everett, Vice President of Member Business Services/New Ventures. “Five Rivers is an exceptional resource for Greater Dayton and led by a fantastic leadership team. We look forward to future opportunities to partner with Five Rivers toward improving outcomes for those we both serve.”

“NCB is proud to work with Wright-Patt Credit Union, in securing the financing necessary for Five Rivers to expand and provide critical health services to the residents of Dayton, OH”, stated Bob Montanari, Senior Vice President at National Cooperative Bank. “As a lender who specializes in the healthcare industry, we know the impact that affordable healthcare can bring to a community and look forward to the completion of the campus.”
